NEWS FOR VETERANS

An electronic machine that enables doctors to know when a patient needs a blood transfusion during surgery has been devised by a Veterans Administration surgeon, VA announced.
Called a blood-loss monitor, the new instrument instantly, automatically, and continuously measures the amount of blood lost by a patient during an operation.
It was originated by Dr. Harry H. LeVeen, chief of surgery at the VA hospital in Brooklyn.
Dr. LeVeen said measurements of blood loss made by the monitor are accurate to within one half of one per cent.
The machine is in use at the Brooklyn hospital for all heart surgery and for most operations for cancer, burns, and other conditions in which heavy blood loss is likely to occur, he said. The monitor is about two feet square.
Sponges and drapes used in surgery are dropped into a wire basket inside the machine and agitated in a measured amount of water to remove the blood. Other blood lost at the site of surgery is sucked into the same water through a tube.
As blood is added to and mixed with the water, the electrical conductivity of the solution changes. The machine measures this conductivity and translates the changes into cubic centimeter measurements of blood loss.
The cumulative blood loss is measured on a dial at the front of the monitor.

Dollar Day Was Big Hit

A highly successful Dollar Day was held in Appomattox last Saturday, and resulting in the largest crowd of shoppers of the year being in town. Sponsored by the Appomattox County Business Association, the event was well planned and from all sources came the opinion that it should be repeated at appropriate intervals.

One feature of Dollar Day was the fact that so many shoppers arrived in town early, and in many cases crowds were in fornt of stores waiting for the doors to open.

Business was reported excellent all over town. One merchant said business was "better than Christmas Eve."

Many stores had prepared several Dollar Day Specials, and the public went for these in a big way.

Several stores had extra sales people on duty, and thus were able to serve the larger than usual Saturday crowd.

This promotion should bring satisfaction to the Business Association, and its success will doubtless encourage more community promotions in the future.

Red Cross New Officers

John Hall has resigned as secretary and treasurer, and this office has been taken over by James R. Redding.

Cecil J. Rowe is the new Blood Procurement chairman, succeeding J. Newton Jennings.

Scrap Drive At Evergreen

The regular monthly meeting of the Evergreen Ruritan Club was held Friday night. The meeting was postponed from the third Friday due to weather conditions. A large number of members was present, and a splendid supper was served by Mrs. Elijah Farrar, of Evergreen.

COMMENDED FOR CLEARING ROADS

Many accounts are still being related of outstanding work done in this area during the recent heavy snow and subsequent battle to keep roads open and serve those who were blocked in by drifts of snow several feet high, This newspaper would like to be in a position to mention by name all those who "went the second mile" in serving their neighbors and the public in general. However, all informants concede that such a listing would likely omit many names of those meriting general tribute for outstanding accomplishment.

It has come to our attention, however that amoung the groups rendering laudable public service was the Central Virginia Electric Cooperative, Lovingston.

Mr. James Cooke, manager, saw to it that his outfit "went to bat" to render service in the emergency, and since has received many letters of commendation from the State Highway Department, Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corp., as well as from private citizens..

Typical of these letters was one from Transco, where Station Superintendent R. V. Leffers was high in praise of the use of Central Co-op equipment by Raymond Jamerson in opening up drift-blocked roads at the local Compression Station No. 17. He mentioned that at shift time it would have been impossible for needed employees to reach work or return home but for this service.

Special praise has also been made of T. M. Trent for his service over the county of Appomattox, pushing through with equipment to open up rural roads and hooked farm entrances, Mr. Cooke made use of a helitcopter to spot the worst drifts and aid in guiding rescue operations.

We are informed that the Co-op made-no request for reimbursement for this public service.

The inadequacy of this list of those rendering such public service is conceded, and it is the opinion of this newspaper that not only these but the scores of others involved be commended and saluted for a splendid job.

Ralph Inge Wins Speaking Contest

By Jack Tibbs, Chapter Reporter

Ralph Inge, Secretary of the Robert E. Lee Chapter of the Future Farmers of America recently won the Hub Federation Public Speaking Contest held at Amherst. This is one of the seven competitive contests in which nine schools of the Hub Federation participate.

Ralph's speech entitled, "Atoms for Agriculture" was based upon the scientific uses of atomic energy in the development of more and better agricultural methods.

Second place was won by Ed Davis, of William Campbell, whose topic was, "Our Smallest Servants."

Charles Farins, of Rustburg, placed third; Franklin Sites, of Brookville fourth; John Weber, of Amherst placed fifth; Alan May, of New London Academy, placed sixth, and Alvin Franklin, of Concord, placed seventh. Moneta and Huddleston did not enter a speaker. After careful consideration of the topics, the judges decided that the manuscript determined the winner between Ralph Inge and Ed Davis, as both had delivered their speeches equally well.

Ralph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Inge of Pamplin. He has engaged in many contests of the Federation and in 1957 was a member of the crop judging team which placed fourth in the state. Ralph is a member of the Beta Club and has been vice-president and secretary of the Intermediate Class at Elon Baptist Church. He is treasurer of the Student Cooperative Association at Appomattox High School.

PLAN LADIES NIGHT

The March 27 meeting of the Appomattox Lions Club has been designated as a Ladies Night.

Little Jody Rainwater, WSVS radio announcer, will be the master of ceremonies.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program. A silver offering will be taken.

March of Dimes Final Report

Bobby Mitchell, chairman for the recent March of Dimes drive, today announced the following report on gifts for the 1958 fund:

Individual Gifts	19.00
Corporation Gifts	$15.50
Negro Schools and Churches	221.91
Mothers' March	447.52
Coin Collections	250.19
MOD Mailers	16.61
White Churches	296.46
White Schools	297.74
Coffee Sales	15.95
Bess Pulliam Dance	13.06
Total	$2,393.88

The above is slightly less than the total raised last year, and is considered a good showing. The committee wishes to thank all those who worked and contributed in the March of Dimes drive.

General Assembly Reaches Final Week of Active Session

Richmond, March 3.- The General Assembly started today on the last lap of an harmonious and constructive session.

A Senate Finance subcommittee, after a full week-end of work, prepared a series of recommended changes in the biennial budget which may reach the Senate floor Thursday or Friday. The changes will probably enlarge the appropriation total slightly but not upset the basic structure of the House approved bill. Senator J. Harvie Wilkinson, of Halifax County, as chairman of the Finance Committee, will pilot the measure through the Senate.

Each branch of the legislature in this last week of the 60-day session, can consider only bills which originated in the opposite house. As a result, many measures died or were killed in committees last week. Among them was a bill calling for further location studies of the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge-tunnel system. The State Highway Commission already has approved a north-south route and advocates of an east-west crossing to bring the western terminus north of Hampton Roads sought legislative backing through the bill killed last week.

The Senate gave final approval to legislation requested by the Governor to eliminate in 1959 the present provision permitting state income taxpayers to defer payment of their tax above $50 or one-half, whichever is greater, from May 1 to October 1. This will enable the state to pick up for current appropriation about $2,368,000.

A major administration measure now before the Senate with House approval are recommended changes in the Pupil Placement Act. The changes would divorce the placement procedure language form other statutes requiring segregated schools, eliminate the Governor as one step in the administrative remedy procedure, and permit a parent to sign the placement application under protest without jeopardizing his rights. The Board also will be given specific subpoena powers.

A second important item in Governor Almond's program ready for final consideration after preliminary House and Senate clearance would cure what the Governor found to be "a glaring defect" in one of the 1956 Extra Session school laws. This amendment would give the Governor discretionary authority on whether to turn a closed school back to the control of local authorities. Under present law, he must do so if requested by the local school board or the local governing board, and then the locality presumably could, if it saw fit, operated integrated schools without state aid.

The Senate is expected to give quick approval to House amendments to the voter registration bill recommended by the Governor and apparently satisfying diverse views on the subject. The changes made in the House direct the registrar to make available to the applicant the pertinent sections of the constitution and the statutes covering registration requirements while he records the necessary information on a blank sheet of paper.

Also waiting final action in the Senate is the Boatwright bill, passed by the House, 81-5, to create a new legislative committee on offenses against the administration of justice; permitting juveniles between 14 and 18 to be jailed for drunkenness or serious offenses; transferring the state local inspection service from the health to the agriculture department; and requiring more efforts to enforce parental support for children applying for public assistance.

Uninsured motorist bills have passed both houses of origin and are awaiting the final action that will send them to the Governor.

WEEKLY NEWS REPORT OF MAYOR MOSES

To the Citizens of
The Town of Appomattox:

I want to take this opportunity to again thank all of you fine people for your splendid assistance and cooperation toward both our "Clean-Up" and "Safety" campaigns.

It was very pleasing to learn that after a week of operation of the parking meters that the parking tickets have been less and less as the days go on. Your cooperation in the operation of the parking meters is greatly appreciated by all of the town officials.

Just as soon as the weather improves some, the town expects to make some improvements on the Town Parking Lot, so that none will have any difficulty parking at any time.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday, March 3, at which time some new ordinances were passed concerning the parking regulations. You will find a copy of all these printed in The Times-Virginian this week. I just hope that everyone will take a few minutes and study these. If there are any questions concerning same please feel free to inquire.

Let's everyone try and continue with the present spirit to clean our sidewalks and streets and make a special effort to beautify our town in everyway possible.

I plead with you all to help in everyway you can to promote our Safety Carspaign and let's try to keep Appomattox free of traffic accidents.

Your counsel and advise on all public matters is invited at all times.

Sincerely,
C. T. Moses, Jr.
Mayor, Town of Appomattox.

With the championship of District Four safely tucked away, the Appomattox High School basketball team is in Blacksburg to play in the state Group II high school tournament at V. P. I. The local team gets into actten this afternoon at 2:30, with Loudoun County H. S., District Nine champs as opponent.

Appomattox won the right to enter the state tournament, by taking the District Four, Group II title in a district tournament last week-end at Lynchburg College. The Blue Hornets up-ended Gretna in the final game of the district play.

It is believed that Appomattox will be on equal footing this afternoon against the Loudoun team of District Nine.

Coach Gordon Bragg has a young but amply-staffed squad, with several boys capable of hitting a peak performance. Reserve strength may be a decisive factor in tournament competition.

If Appomattox wins this afternoon, the Blue Hornets will go into the semi-finals Friday. The state title for Group II schools will be on the line in the finals Saturday.

The Martinsville High School is set up as tournament favorite in Group II. This school moves up to Group I next season. In the opening round play yesterday in Group II, Martinsville won from Buckingham Central H. S., 68 - 56. Buckingham is the District III champ. It was the second loss of the year for Buckingham, after a string of 19 wins.

Loudoun County H. S., today's opponent for Coach Bragg's squad, had a 13 - 9 record in the regular season. A. H. S. stands at 18 - 2.

Sad part for A. H. S., is that a win today would only put the team against Martinsville, the top favorite in Friday semi-finals.

Regardless of the outcome, the A. H. S. basketball team of 1958 has established a splendid record, and a top proportion of the Dogwood has at least another year of eligibility.

Local Club Plants Dogwood

Members of the Garden Club were busier than usual on Wednesday of this week. They supervised the planting of 20 additional dogwood trees in the Memorial Planting area along the highway near the Surrender Grounds. This project of planting dogwood trees in memory of deceased Garden Club members was started several years ago.

E. A. Hicks, landscape engineer of the Virginia Department of Highways, and the National Park Service have worked on these landscaping plans with the Roadside Beautification Committee of the Garden Club, Mrs. Ivey Holland, chairman. In addition to the dogwoods which the club purchased, the plans call for supplemental planting of redbud and other native trees by the Highway Department.

This landscaping project should add much scenic beauty to the area in a few years, certainly by Centennial Time at the National Park, and the efforts of the club are being redoubled because of this expected observance.
